

Bay City Council proposes tax cut

BY TRACI BONNEY

Bay St. Louis plans to drastically reduce its municipal tax.

The City Council and Mayor Edward Favre unveiled at a public meeting for Wards 1 and 2 Monday the proposed FY93 city budget. The main feature of the $4.3 million budget is the elimination of the city's general fund tax levy.

Favre said this will reduce Bay St. Louis's municipal levy by 85 percent. That equates to a 20 percent drop in taxes paid by city residents and business owners.

The mayor explained that the reduction will benefit anyone who pays city taxes, including those whose vehicles are registered in Bay St. Louis.

When asked what revenues are expected to compensate for the general fund tax monies, Favre said some increases in other revenues, along with anticipated gaming revenues, will fill that role.

He explained that of the $1.8 million Casino Magic agreed to pay the city in lieu of boarding fees, $1.5 million is budgeted and the other $300,000 will be reserved.

Paul Vegas asked what would happen if a major hurricane, such as the recent storm Andrew, were to destroy the Casino Magic facility at Bay Cove, Favre said the gambling company is insuring against loss, and the city is also seeking insurance as a financial guarantee that the funds promise will be delivered even if the dock-side casino is destroyed.

He added that the city officials realize they may have to reinstate the general fund levy next year, if unforeseen circumstances arise.

"Still, that's one year that you get a tax break," he said. "We'll be able, with this measure, to help the local economy. And what better boost to the economy than to get your hands out of people's pocketbooks?"

OTHER MEASURES

The proposed budget earmarks funds to give all city employees raises, with the average raise being about 7 1/2 percent; purchase a new city hall annex on Court Street; spruce up the existing City Hall building; purchase and renovate the railroad depot, and make it ready to be a stop for the planned Amtrak passenger service.

Add 13 staff members to the police, fire and

Aldermen set Sept. 21 for delinquent tax sale

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The City of Waveland approved Tuesday the rescheduling of the annual sale of tax delinquent property for September 21.

Mayor Stella Frilot read from a proclamation which declared all transactions completed on August 24 to be null and void, citing hurricane preparations as an unfair attendance deterrent.

Discussion over resurfacing streets said to be damaged by excessive traffic and equipment passage during the recent FmHA water and sewer extension project ended with no action taken.

Frilot proposed during the August 19 meeting that the city investigate contracting with GM&R Construction Co. for overlay work to areas outside of the extension project.

Tuesday, she said the price quoted by GM&R was significantly higher than previously contracted work and suggested inviting bids for the job following budget review.

Alderman Stan Weidman said he thought the city was going to require the contractor to repair the streets, as the damage was thought to be a direct result of the FmHA project.

Alderman Barbara Rappold commented the streets being discussed were within the sewer project areas, but not within the work area.

Frilot said street damage outside of the work area was not solely due to heavy equipment passage, describing aged and thinly layered asphaltting and increased traffic usage necessitated by re-routing during project construction as contributors to the damage.

Minutes from the previous meeting were approved, with Weidman dissenting.

Frilot was given board permission to attend the National League of Cities' Congress of Cities conference, November 28 to December 1 in New Orleans at a cost of $310. Weidman opposed, questioning the status of the city's budget.

In other business the board approved:

Tax sale postponed

All delinquent tax sale transactions which took place, as pictured, on Monday, August 24 were canceled by the county tax assessor's office. Due to Hurricane Andrew, tax assessor Edward Murtagh reported, the county decided to reschedule the two-day event for the benefit of those who were unable to attend. The board of supervisors is to set the date for the sales during their September 8 meeting. (Photo by T. H. "Doc" Toups)

In the swim

Bro. Albert Ledet teaches two decades of aquatics

BY TRACI BONNEY

St. Stanislaus's Brother Albert Ledet has seen 7,000 people do the dead man's float over the past 22 years.

Ledet is a Red Cross swimming instructor. He has given free swimming lessons — with help from other adults and teenagers — to local people of all ages since 1970.

When asked how many people he's given swimming lessons to, he said 7,000. He also added, however, "That's how many have taken lessons. Not all of them have passed."

Ledet has been involved in teaching swimming and lifesaving classes for 30 years. He was put in charge of the St. Stanislaus swimming pool in 1970 (shortly after it was built in late 1969), and has presided over summer camp swimming sessions — along with other brothers — as well as the free lessons ever since.

Over the years, he's had a lot of help from young and older adults. Gladys Stakelum, whose children were in the first class given, has been an assistant every year. Dorothy "Dot"

Kersanac and Marilyn Fayard, who are no longer involved in the program, spent many years as assistants and became instructors.

Ledet said he also has had help from others, who change from year to year. In addition, he often asks students who have passed the intermediate course to return and help teach the beginners.

He uses at least 18 young adults and two or three older ones each summer to teach. The instructors work six groups at a time.

This summer, the beginner classes alone had 60 students each.

Although the Red Cross swimming lessons are free, the organization asked Ledet about five or six years ago to solicit

Cable TV costs rise

Cable television will cost Hancock County residents an additional dollar beginning this month.

According to a MultiVision Cable Co. spokesman, basic rates will increase to $18.95 per month. Senior citizens will pay an additional 90 cents. Monthly fees for premium movies, additional outlets and remote controls will not change.

The reason for this increase, cited by company spokesman Susan Tremain, is an increase in operational expenses and programming costs from cable networks.

MultiVision has recently upgraded its system, along with adding the religious Trinity network to its Hancock County offerings.

The company also provides free cable TV to public and private schools in Bay St. Louis and Waveland, as well as "Cable in the Classroom" programming, an educational tool for teachers.

MultiVision serves Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Pearl River, offering 18 cable networks and 24 channels.

It retained sole cable television service to Hancock coastal residents when it purchased the Bay St. Louis Futurevision franchise in March.

Tremain said the purchase of the Futurevision franchise had no influence on the basic rate

Frierson wins runoff

Harry L. Frierson Jr. of Kiln edged out former state representative Joe B. Rouse Tuesday in the Democratic runoff for recently-created House District #93.

Despite a sparse voter turnout in the district, Frierson garnered 563 votes — 51 percent of the ballots — to Rouse's 538 votes.

Primary election results from August 4 gave Rouse 613 votes in the district and Frierson 537.

Frierson will face Republican Hester Plauche, who defeated Curtis Johnson on August 4, and Independent candidate Hilda Bourg in November.

Unemployment rate falls in county

Hancock County's unemployment rate fell to 7.9% in July from a high of 9.2% in June.

The national average for the same time period is 7.6%. The state average was 9.4%.

The statistics are compiled monthly by the Mississippi Employment Security Commission. The rate is up from 6.5% of the previous year.

Current figures list a growth in the civilian labor force to 14,220, with approximately 1,130 unemployed. In July of 1991, MESC listed a labor force of 14,060, with 920 unemployed. Unemployment rates for surrounding counties are: Harrison, 8.3%; Pearl River, 12.1%; and Stone, 13.1%.

donations from those can afford them.

The swimming sessions consist of an hour of lesson time, then an hour to 1½ hours of free swim time, which draws others in addition to those taking the lessons.

At one time, the lessons were open to children five and older, but now the starting age is second grade. "I've found it's better to start with the kids who are used to listening to a teacher," Ledet commented. "They're easier to train, to keep the attention focused."

He stated there have been no calls to rescue students in the two decades of lessons. Caution is the main reason for that.

"We don't let students go into the deeper water until we're sure they're ready. Even during the free swim, I stop those who can't swim across the pool from going into deeper water."

Adults also may take the lessons. He said for the past six years, since the adult classes were started, the groups have averaged 18 a year.

The lifesaving classes have been very practical for past students, who have been able to get jobs as lifeguards in local pools, Ledet commented.

However, he said he almost retired altogether from teaching this year, and has had to discontinue the lifesaving class, because of surgery last September that removed a disc from his spine. He does still teach the first aid and CPR classes trainees must pass to become lifeguards, though.

Why has Brother Ledet given swim lessons to local kids and adults for the past 22 years?

"I like to do it. If you can't swim, you're going to be afraid of the water. Living here on the Coast, that can kill you."

"I never will forget one story. A lady and her five kids came to the pool and she said, 'We've got to learn how to swim.'"

"When she told us her story, she said she and the kids had gone out crabbing. The first place they stopped was a canal, but they didn't like the looks of it, so they went on down the beach toward Waveland. They found a spot on the seawall to crab off of, and while they were getting started, one of the kids fell in the water. When he stood up, he was only in three feet of water."

"But the mama said when she thought of how they could have fallen into the canal had they stopped there, it scared her, so she decided they had to learn to swim."

Bro. Albert Ledet

What's the biggest reward for teaching swimming?

"To see a little child go from being afraid of the water, to swimming across the pool in the deep end for the first time. It's really worth it."

ILLEGAL IMMIGRANT/MISDEMEANOR ARRESTS

Waveland Police Chief James Varnell reported the arrest of a woman on a misdemeanor charge Sunday, as one of her companions, a male Hispanic was taken into custody by the United States Border Patrol.

Varnell said, Waveland officer James Goss saw a broken down vehicle occupied by a woman and four Hispanic males along Highway 90 at approximately 11:47 a.m.

Goss, stopping to investigate, discovered only one of the male Hispanics to have proper identification papers.

The U.S. Border Patrol was notified, and upon arrival, issued temporary papers to two of the men, instructing them to either return to Mexico in seven days or obtain proper working permits.

The fourth male was taken into custody by border patrol officers. The woman was charged with a misdemeanor violation and released on a cash bond.

BOAT THEFT

Bay St. Louis Police Department Investigator David Parker reported that a 13-year-old and a 14-year-old were arrested following a chase Tuesday and charged with stealing a boat.

Parker said police received a call around 9:48 a.m. Tuesday reporting that a 14-foot aluminum boat owned by Garland E. Taylor had been stolen from the head of the pier in front of 808 N. Beach Blvd. Bureau of Marine Resources officials gave chase in one of their boats, and Bay St. Louis Police Officers Kurt Raymond and Dave Sellier joined the pursuit in a boat owned by Raymond.

The two juveniles were apprehended while still in the boat. One was released to his parents, while the other was placed in custody in the Hancock County jail.

Sellier, the arresting officer, is in charge of the investigation.

The city of Waveland refused Futurvision a franchise when request last spring, basing its decision on the inability of the market area to support two cable companies.

Multivision began local service in 1987 and presently has approximately 3,500 customers in Hancock county.

The Gulf Breeze, Fla. company last increased rates by $2 in August of 1988.

Congress is currently considering passage of the Cable TV Consumer Act of 1992, which according to advocates, should lower cable TV rates, improve service and boost competition through re-regulation of the cable industry.

Proponents of the act say the legislation will increase company costs which must then be passed on to the consumer.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

High school football season officially begins Friday night with all local teams in action.

The Tigers of Bay High will host their neighbors from across the Bay, the Pirates of Pass Christian in McCullough Stadium. Hancock High will face George County in Hawk Stadium and St. Stanislaus will host Gulfport's Admirals in Rock-A-Chow Stadium.

All kickoffs are set for 7:30 p.m.

Head coach Rocky Gaudin's Tigers come off a 5-5 record in 1991, hoping to improve it this year.

The Pirates defeated Bay High last season, and Gaudin wants to start off the season with a victory.

Gaudin has sparked a new 'flame' in the football program at Bay High.

Since he took over the helm as head football coach, the Tigers have received good fan and athletic club support.

Bay High has returning eight offensive and six defensive starters from his 1991 squad and Gaudin will depend upon their leadership this season.

The Hawks under the direction of veteran head coach Irvin Favre has gotten into that winning combination several years ago and probably will be the team to beat in the county this year.

Hancock has a good program and always appears to come up with a replacement for the big names he loses to graduation.

Stanislaus this year will have a very young team with little varsity experience.

Head mentor Ken Lyons knows that 5-A Gulfport will not forget the 33-27 loss to the Rocks last season.

St. Stanislaus should be ready for Gulfport, too, as the Rocks are an eager squad, and with a little depth can be a threat in any game.

All coaches seem to tell us the same thing; they really will not know how good their team is until they have several games behind them.

All of the teams need good fan support. The coaches and players need you in the stands.

I hope to see you at the game Friday night.

I was in conversation with a resident a few days ago who was talking about doing some volunteer work after Hurricane Camille.

Her job was to help those who had lost all of their clothing in the storm, and this was a job she enjoyed doing.

Now the reason she brought up the conversation was because of the clothing she had received to issue. Some of them were really rags.

She said she reached into a pile of men's t-shirts and pulled one out with a big gob of grease on it, then the next one had several holes in it several inches across.

The reason she mentioned this to me was because she knows many of us will be sending clothing to those who had the misfortunes from Hurricane Andrew's visit.

She urges everyone who make a contribution of clothing to please make sure the item is still wearable.

I think this is a very good suggestion because, as you know, it takes a lot of transportation to move items across the state to those who are in need. A worn out item could take the room of a good item.

Just as we appreciated the assistance from others after Hurricane Camille, I am sure the victims of Andrew will feel the same way.

Many organizations have been helping Andrew's victims and I understand the Salvation Army in Gulfport sends 100 percent of designated hurricane relief monies to supply the needs of victims of the storm.

By the way, in Louisiana alone the Salvation Army has already given out more than 100,000 pounds of ice, 161,059 meals in 37 locations, and supplied tons and tons of clothing, baby needs, coffee snacks and you name it.

Persons interested in making a donation can send it to: Salvation Army, P.O. Box 728, Gulfport, MS 39502.

Locations of Hancock Convenience Centers

Hancock County operates five manned Convenience Centers for county residents for disposal purposes.

Convenience Centers are located at Pearllington, Highway 604; Standard, C.C. Road off Hwy. 603; South Barn, Lower Bay Road, Lakeshore, across from post office; Washington/Chapman Road; and Central Maintenance Facility, Highway 43 off Hwy. 603.

Heavy debris, such as refrigerators, furniture and construction materials and rubbish is accepted only at the Pearllington and Standard county land fill.

All household garbage must be placed in the compactors, only.

The Standard Land Fill is open daily from 7 a.m. until 6 p.m., while hours for other locations are 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. All locations are closed Thanksgiving and Christmas Day.

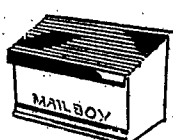

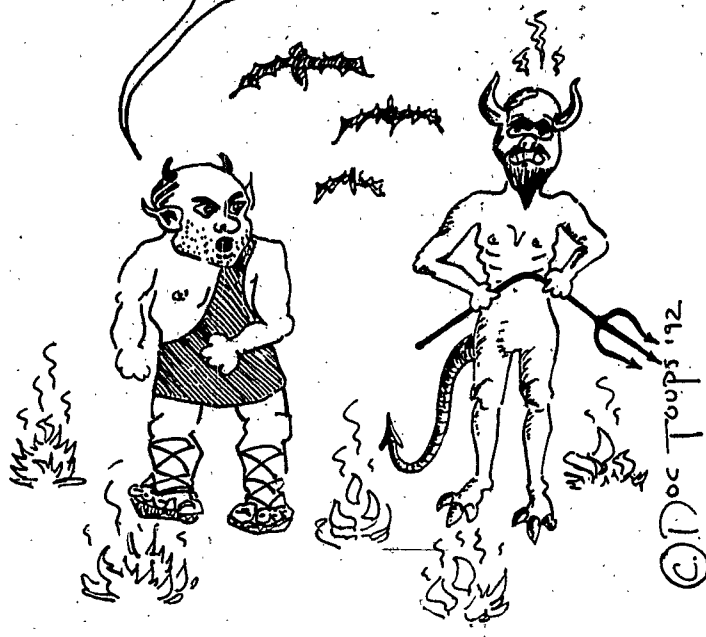

It is emphasized that none of the centers or land fills will accept tires, paint cans or hazardous waste or materials.

The general public is reminded that dumpsters adjacent to local businesses are paid for by the respective occupants and these are not for public use.

Litter irks pedestrian on daily walk with dog

To you slob out there:
I walk my dog each day. I have to—she's a Husky. (She doesn't like vandals and such.)
I pick up cans that I see, sometimes 20 to 30.
Please just drop the cans out the window—it's much harder to jump the ditch when you throw them so far.

In fact, I like them crushed, so just drop them on the road, you lush.
And it would look nicer around here if you took the paper and plastics home. Much nicer.

What to do about Bosnia

We have a situation in Europe which has the potential to get worse before it gets better. The fighting in Bosnia leaves many questions unanswered and the world wondering what to do.

There seems to be no end in sight to the killing. The United Nations has been working to provide humanitarian assistance for the victims who are injured, starved and/or trying to leave the region. The UN, also is investigating the death camps we've been hearing about.

It is important that we work in a unified manner with the UN and not on our own. We have to use the UN voice to examine the radical change that is going on in the former Yugoslavia and try to bring peace.

When we look at what to do, we must first remember the history of the area. This region produced the strange origin of World War I and some of the most vicious fighting of World War II. This fact alone warrants a non-hasty approach.

Mistake number one would be to go into the region with ground forces. The outcome would be tragic on both sides. We not only don't know exactly who the enemy is, but also don't know where to find them. The mountainous terrain and uncertain borders provide an identity curtain and present a much larger task than the deserts of Kuwait and Iraq.

We have to find out exactly what is happening there to cause the bloodshed by working with our European allies who know this part of the world. We also should place UN deadlines on the fighting, realizing that if the situation escalates, there might be a cause for air strikes. Once again though, who and where do you strike?

Caution, careful study and unified effort are the ways to bring this conduct to an end. We must have the cooperation of the world, and we must be willing to use force only if it can be practically used as a deterrent.

The entire issue brings up the point that if we are going to bring peace to another section of the world and work with countries from around the world to achieve it, then we must remain militarily strong. The world is still a very dangerous place, but we have the thanks of freed countries and a Cold War victory to prove that ultimately peace can be achieved.

Anti-litter hotlines set up in Bay county

Hotlines have been implemented for people in Bay St. Louis and outside the city limits to call if they see someone toss trash out of a vehicle.

If you see someone do this, memorize or write down the vehicle's license number and call the appropriate hotline number. A recording will instruct you as to how to report the violation.

After the vehicle registration is traced, a letter will be sent by the appropriate authority to the vehicle owner. The letter does not accuse the vehicle owner of throwing the trash, but states that an occupant of a vehicle which is or was owned by that person was seen throwing trash out of the vehicle.

The letter states that no charges are being filed at the time the letter is issued, but also reminds the person that littering is illegal and carries a $250 fine.

The numbers to call are 255-6234 for a violation witnessed in Bay St. Louis, and 255-6246 for one witnessed in the county.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Video bingo and pull-tubs to become legal in Miss.

If Mississippians aren't already "bingo-happy," they are probably going to be after Oct. 1 when a new state law legalizes video bingo machines and bingo pull-tubs which let a player know instantly if he has won any money.

This is Mississippi's entry into what is called "instant gratification" in the gaming industry, something that is evidently growing rapidly in popularity around the country.

There was virtually nothing said on the floor of the Legislature or in the press back in the 1992 legislative session earlier this year about the legalization of the video bingo machines or the pull-tubs.

It was stuck into a bill whose primary purpose was to reform and tighten state law governing operation of charitable bingo games which have proliferated around the state in recent years with virtually no state regulation.

Although the only bingo legal in Mississippi supposedly must have a tie to a legitimate non-profit charity or veterans group, organized bingo games conducted by professional operators has blossomed into big business all over the state.

Now, with electronic bingo terminals, as well as the pull-tab cards, legal come October, bingo is only going to get bigger.

To give you some idea of how big bingo games have already become, I checked reports filed with the State Tax Commission of gross proceeds, expenses and distribution of funds by several "charitable" bingo games. Since July, 1991 quarterly reports of bingo operations had been required by a 1990 state law.

The Bingo Depot in Jackson, which operates the game for the Children's Advocacy Center, showed a gross of $1,207,838 for the first three months of his year, out of which $873,416 was alleged to have been paid out in prizes. Of the net, $120,000 was contributed to the charity.

In the previous three-month period, the bingo operation had reported proceeds of $1,081,000, prizes of $736,126 and Children's Advocacy got only $79,000.

Just from those two quarterly reports, it's evident that Bingo Depot alone handles proceeds of around $4.5 million a year. Because there were no teeth in the reports requiring documentation of the payout and expenses of the bingo operator, the reported figures for those items are suspect.

It's not just in Jackson that bingo is big business. The second quarter, 1992 gross reported by Skate City Bingo at Summit, tied to a sister group of Children's Advocacy, called Children First, Inc., (using the same operator) was $638,723. The charity got only $23,200 out of it.

Or even in Corinth, where another sister group of Children's Advocacy, called MS. Committee to Prevent Child Abuse, operating as Tri-State Bingo, the proceeds for the first quarter of this year were $543,165. The charity got $50,000.

At least, the new bingo reform act requires all bingo games to be licensed by the state Gaming Commission, beginning as of August 1, and regulated by that commission. Among other things the law will require full disclosure of how much and to whom the bingo game proceeds are paid out.

Every player in a bingo house will have to have a numbered ticket in order to play, giving the commission a method for cross-checking the reports of operators. The new law even limits the number of employees and their hourly salary for conducting bingo sessions.

The video bingo machines will only be located on the premises of the licensed charity bingo game, and can only be played during the prescribed hours set by the Gaming Commission. The winning combinations of numbers will be preset in the "brain" of the device. Winners will print out on a tape that can be redeemed for cash.

Players of the video machines, as well as the pull-tabs, however, will have the luxury of popping in and gambling without waiting for drawn numbers to be called.

Behind the scenes of the Legislature, getting legal sanction of the electronic devices for bingo into the law was a choice plum which the video poker interests pushed to the hilt through their well-connected lobbyist, the veteran Spencer "Buddy" Medlin.

Sen. Vic Frankiewicz of Bay St. Louis, who is retiring from the Legislature, was on the joint Senate-House conference committee which wrote the final version of the charity bingo bill.

"Unless I made Buddy Medlin happy, I'm convinced the bill would never have come out of the conference committee," Frankiewicz told me.

That's how things work in the Mississippi Legislature.

What would you do differently, should another hurricane approach?

"Nothing. I would do the same thing and leave town. I come to visit here, and when the winds start to blowin' I get a going."

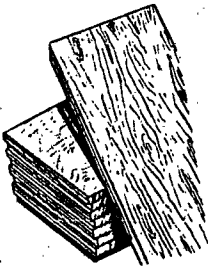

Ray Camp
Marietta, Ga.

"I'm originally from Virginia, and in 1985 Hurricane Gloria came bearing down on the Virginia coast. I thought you could ride out a category 4 or 5 hurricane, but I learned, never ride out a hurricane. It's too easy to gas up and get out of town. Don't panic, and be prepared."

Charles Milligan

"I have my ice chest filled with ice and drinks so if the electricity goes out we don't have to go into the refrigerator. I have my portable TV ready with batteries and just stay cool. Don't panic."

BWYC hosts Lipton championship Sept. 5-7

When Bay-Waveland won the Lipton Championship in New Orleans on Labor Day weekend last year, it not only won the series, but also the right to host the event in 1992.

The event is the championship of the Gulf Yachting Association which has clubs along the Gulf Coast from St. Petersburg, Fla. to the Texas-Louisiana border and as far north as Little Rock, Ark.

Walter Chamberlain, regatta chairman for this year's event, expects as many as 27 of the GYA's 30 clubs to participate. Each club sends four skippers; each may sail one race and may not crew.

Crew members may only participate in two of the four races. The event will attract some 2,000 visitors to the Bay-Waveland area over Labor Day Weekend.

Sir Thomas Lipton is best known for his unsuccessful challenges to win the America's Cup between 1899 and 1930 and for the tea which bears his name.

Perhaps he should also be well known for his support for the sport of sailing. He donated many beautiful trophies for prestigious sailing events all over the world to encourage spirited competition.

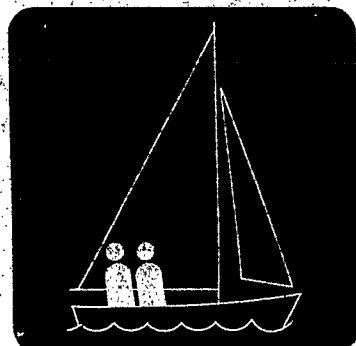

In 1919 Sir Thomas, then 69 years of age, visited New Orleans where he had briefly lived as a teenager. Upon seeing the newly built fleet of Fish Class Sailboats he agreed to donate a trophy to Southern Yacht Club to be used to encourage interclub racing in this new class.

When the trophy was received it was considered such a marvel that it was displayed in a Canal Street department store, then called D. H. Holmes. The irreplaceable, original trophy has been retired at Southern Yacht Club due to its value. A half model replica is kept at the winning club from year to year.

The event has been sailed in Flying Scots since 1969 when the new trailerable, fiberglass 19-foot boat became the official boat of the Gulf Yachting Association.

To win the regatta, challenging clubs must beat the holder of the trophy. In the event of a tie the previous winner will keep the trophy and the championship for the next year. Bay-Waveland's team of Rod Stiefel, Bishop Stiefel, Peter Merrifield and Marc Eagan plan to make it as difficult as possible for another club to take the trophy away.

Alternate skippers for BWYC are Randy Santa Cruz and Dennis Stiefel. Crew members include Charles Merrigan, Gilly Chamberlain, Kippy Chamberlain, Mallory Mestayer, Missy Breath, Wayne Murphy, Emily Taylor.

Chad Renkin, Rene Dupiquier, Marcus Eagan, Andrew Eagan, Corky Hadden, Sarah Taylor, Alan Uram, Sanders Kane and Mac Hadden. Bubby Eagan is team captain.

PCYC skippers are John Dane III, Kevin Northrup, Eric Doyle and Shelly Killeen, with Owen Peneguy and Eugene Schmitt as alternates.

Crew members are Chuck Yarborough, Todd Puckett, Fred May, Frank Allen, David Taylor, Shirley Gooch, Gerard Ballanco, Lauren Bentz, Sandy Dugan, Mimi Montagnet, Oliver Peneguy, Jennifer Peneguy, Amelia Taylor, Ben Puckett Jr., John F. Dane and David Taylor Jr. Team captain is Danny Killeen.

Regatta participants will enjoy a fish fry hosted by Leo Seal on Sunday night. Yacht club members contributed most of the fish and will handle the cooking chores as the 200-plus sailors enjoy Bay St. Louis hospitality.

Races will be sailed in the bay Saturday and Sunday and will conclude on Labor Day with a trophy presentation.

JERRY L. LADNER

The Man For The People

Senate

District 46

We have lost control of our justice system. Otherwise, why would crime be the biggest business in our country today? While crime runs wild in our cities and counties, the attorneys and judges who let these people back on the streets, are making the big money in this big business. When elected, I will introduce legislation to take this power away from judges and use the juries to try these people, and grand juries to pardon, if warranted.

Fact is, 80% of the crime is committed by 10% of the same people over and over again. They are arrested and released within hours... over and over again. I will also introduce legislation to remove our county and city police off the state highways and put them back on our city and county roads and streets where the crime is, where they belong. Our police force was not meant to make money for the attorneys or for our city and county treasurers, but to protect and serve the people and the children of our communities.

The police should take an active part in our schools. This should be done regularly to ensure the safety and well being of our children and to obtain the respect our police forces should deserve in our communities. Before granted the privilege of carrying a badge or protecting a community, police officers should be checked thoroughly for any criminal or unethical behavior they may have ever possessed or participated in.

People are coming daily to the coast from all over the country due to the gambling. This should be the economic breakthrough we need, but not at the cost of repeating history with the reputation that our law enforcements gave us in the 50's. Speed traps and unethical activities from the police force are not the answer to continued tourism.

We deserve no less than to expect our police to be our friends not our enemies, to our children, our tourists, our citizens.

All we're asking for is equal justice for everyone! We have a very large district to cover, almost 50,000 people. We need more police! I need more coverage. We must get our message out to everyone. I NEED YOUR HELP! If you would like to help or make a contribution to aid in the process to make a change in our government, please write to: Jerry L. Ladner, P.O. Box 144, Waveland, MS 39676 or call 467-0907.

With love from Hancock

All Hancock County schools participated in a drive to collect food and other necessities for Louisiana victims of Hurricane Andrew. Salvation Army workers Gary Grice and Beau Gray collected items this week, according to Superintendent Myrna Bourgeois, seated center. From left are kindergarten Lee Klein, Elizabeth White, Whitney Hudson and Courtney Davis. The collection will be ongoing, said Bourgeois. (Photo by T. H. "Doc" Toups)

Shell donates gas profits to hurricane relief fund

Munro Petroleum will donate 1 cent per gallon on all Shell gasoline sales from Sept. 1 through Sept. 15 to the Hurricane Andrew relief program.

Shell Oil will administer the distribution of the funds through local committees in the effective areas.

All Munro Shell Stations in Ocean Springs, Biloxi, North Biloxi, Gulfport, Pass Christian, Bay St. Louis, Wiggins and Picayune will be a part of this program.

Coast Electric crews assist hurricane victims

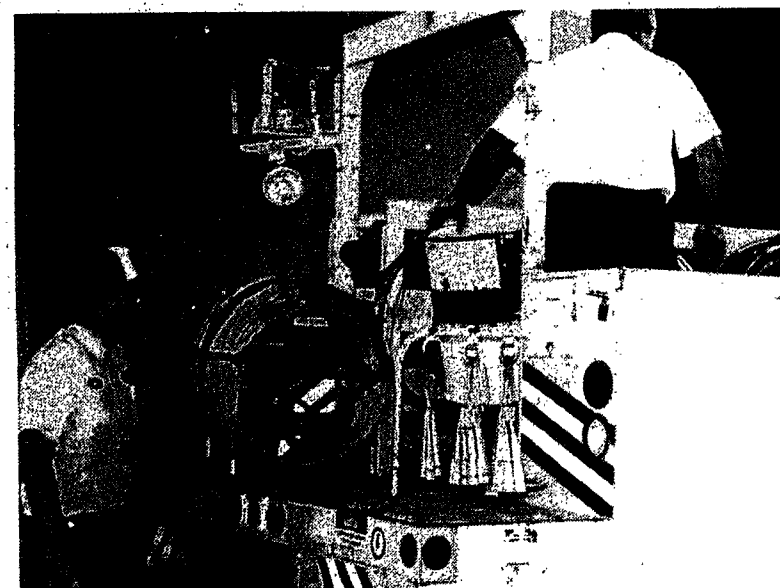

Prepared to spend the next several weeks working from dawn till, several crews of Coast Electric employees headed to Louisiana early Thursday morning. Their destination: Jeanerette, La., a community located about 40 miles south-east of Lafayette.

Robert J. Occhi, Coast Electric general manager, said the men had volunteered for duty and would stay as long as needed to rebuild TECHE Electric Co-op's electric distribution system.

to work with service crews from Pointe Coupee Electric Membership Cooperative.

Through the years, when a hurricane or other storm has severely damaged Coast Electric's facilities, the company has received assistance from co-ops in Louisiana and several other states.

"We are most grateful that Hurricane Andrew past us by," Occhi stated. "Now we are in the position to help a neighboring electric co-op restore service to their consumers."

Cyde Bivens and Milton Henley load fuel.

"Early damage reports showed TECHE EC had about 150 poles down," Occhi commented. "Our crews are well prepared to handle any job needed. They're taking chain saws, diesel fuel, two bucket trucks, two digger trucks and two service trucks," he said.

A Coast Electric service crew from Picayune also left Thursday morning. They were headed for New Rhodes, a community just northeast of Baton Rouge, Coast Electric employees sent to assist with the repair efforts were Alan Moran, George Malley, Bert VonAntz, James Terrell, Tom Spooner, Joe Spooner, Rodney Beech, Steve Dobson,

Professional Football Highlights

**Atlanta, 24—New York Jets, 20
Jet fans may have forgotten last big win over Falcons in 1989. Johnny Hector ran for two TDs, NY whipping Atlanta at Giants Stadium 27-7, only sixth meeting in 20 years.

**Buffalo, 27—L. A. Rams, 13
In last meeting three years ago, Rams held 20-16 lead with 1:22 left. Bill QB Frank Reich passed to Andre Reed for TD in final 16 seconds giving Buffalo 23-20 victory.

Cleveland, 30—Indianapolis, 14
Not necessary to say that Colts are anxious to forget last fall's 1-15 season, they would also like to forget 31-0 shellacking they took from Browns in '91 (31-0 at the half).

Detroit, 17—Chicago, 16
Teams battled 'til final game of '91 season, Lions edging Chicago to win first NFC Central title since 1983, teams split last fall, Bears winning 20-17 in overtime.

**Houston, 26—Pittsburgh, 17
Home-standing Steelers gave Oilers QB Warren Moon headaches in first meeting last fall, intercepting him 5 times to beat Houston 26-14. Oilers ripped Pitt in 2nd game, 31-6.

Kansas City, 21—San Diego, 20
Chiefs looking to extend winning streak over Chargers to five. KC nudged SD 14-13 in opening match-up last season, then in another close one, Chiefs won 20-17 in overtime.

L. A. Raiders, 20—Denver, 17
L.A. has held "Raider-sign" over Broncos, beating them last 5 times they've met. Raiders nipped Denver in L.A. 16-13, then slid by them again later, blocking FC as time expired.

Minnesota, 26—Green Bay, 24
Teams split in '91, Vikings rallying after trailing 21-14, shutting down Pack, winning going away 35-21. In 2nd meeting, Pack took advantage of Vike mistakes to win 27-7.

**Miami, 24—New England, 17
Dolphins have beaten Pats six straight over past three years, winning by 10 points in each game last fall, 20-10, 30-20. Miami QB Dan Marino passed for grand total of 594 yds.

**Philadelphia, 23—New Orleans, 21
NFC West champion Saints open with toughie on road. In match-up last fall, won by N.O. 13-6, Saints defense forced 6 fumbles, intercepted 5 passes, and sacked QB five times.

SAN FRANCISCO, 23—NEW YORK GIANTS, 20
In Monday night season-opener last fall, NY's Matt Bahr kicked 35-yard FG in final 5 seconds to give Giants 16-14 victory. Could be the identical script for this contest.

**Seattle, 20—Cincinnati, 13
Seahawks won 3rd straight over bengals last fall, and—twas 5th straight season loss for Cincy. Bengals fumbled five times, losing 13-7 before disappointed home crowd.

**Tampa Bay, 21—Phoenix, 17
Cards lead series with Bucs, Tampa Bay winning last get-together in Phoenix in 1989. TB QB Vince Testaverde threw TD pass in final five seconds, Bucs winning low-scoring 14-13.

Washington, 31—Dallas, 30

Monday
Teams played two nail-biters last fall, Redskins rallying from 21-10 deficit to edge Cowboys in Dallas 33-31. Dallas returned favor in DC, handing Skins first defeat 24-21.

Bay High reunion to welcome all former students

Special to the Echo
The largest school reunion ever held in Hancock County and the largest group of dance musicians assembled to play for a school party in Mississippi will take place at the "Bay High Best Ever Reunion" at Diamondhead Country Club September 18, 19 and 20, according to Hubert Cowand, chairman.

Two bands will entertain former BHS students. Music selections from the '30's to the '50's will be played by Art Cissell's big 18-piece Stardusters band in the Coral Room. Hits from the '50's to the present will be featured by Dr. Rock and the Inters' eight-piece classic rock band.

The three-day party starts off with a bang at 7:30 on Friday night at the country club with a big "Get Reacquainted" party so all classmates and friends can renew friendships and make plans to see more of each other over the weekend.

A yacht club lunch begins at 11:30 on Saturday; reservations should be made.

At 2 p.m. on Saturday the decorating will begin, and all are invited to help inflate balloons, tie ribbons and place flowers at the country club.

The main event begins at 7:30, when everyone will meet at the country club to party and dance the night away. "Big bands, mounds of food, beautiful decorations, good music, old classmates, friends, old boy-friends and girlfriends, cash bar, hugging and kissing, fantastic weather, a harvest moon...something for everyone...what more could a person ask for?" asked Cowand.

The Class of 1942 will be honored by the Bay High Athletic Club, sponsor of the reunion. Members of the Gold, Blue and White Club, who helped raise $27,000 for improvements to the school and stadium, will also be recognized, according to J.E. and Coco Loiacano.

A professional photographer will be on hand Saturday night to take individual portraits, as well as candid shots, which will be compiled into a "memory book." Photos will be sent for approval, and if approved, will appear in the book. Photos taken at other events may also be submitted.

The book will be available for a nominal cost.

A farewell brunch will greet guests Sunday starting at 10 a.m. at the country club with a bountiful repast prepared by Chef Barnette. Each person attending is invited to offer comments, tell jokes or share memories, said Cowand.

Reservation forms may be picked up at Loiacano's Health Club or from one of the committee members. For information, call Hubert Cowand, 896-0803; J. E. or Coco Loiacano, 467-0594; or Beverly Davis Potts, (504) 833-9602. Reservation deadline is September 11. Those under 21 should not plan to attend.

Beautification Committee sells 'Litter Free' t-shirts

The Chamber of Commerce Beautification Committee wants to clothe Hancock County.

The committee is offering a "Litter Free by '93" t-shirt to those involved with local anti-litter and beautification efforts. The cotton/polyester blend, short-sleeve shirts—yellow, with the Chamber's "Litter Free by '93" logo on the front and "Volunteer Litter Patrol" on the back—are being printed by Candace Strahan of Screendoor Graphics.

GE Plastics is helping defray the cost of the shirts with a donation, so the Beautification Committee is offering them at $6 for youth sizes, $7 for adult S-XL, and $8 for adult XXL. The committee members believe the shirts will serve three purposes: unify the volunteers and provide them with communitywide identification; provide them with some authority; and make the volunteers easy to see, since yellow is a safety color.

Those interested in ordering a shirt should send payment, along with name, phone number, shirt size(s) and number of shirts desired, to Eleanor McCandless, P.O. Box 489, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520, or call her at 467-3911. Payment must be made before the order will be filled.

The committee must place a minimum order of 36 shirts. Those ordering shirts will be notified when they are ready, and may pick up their shirts at the Chamber office, 412 Hwy. 90, #6 Colonial Plaza in Bay St. Louis during office hours—9-5 Monday through Friday (closed for lunch 12-1). Heavier shirts may be available at a later date.

Tigers tangle with Pirates Friday

BY TRACI BONNEY

When the Bay High Tigers host the Pass Christian Pirates Friday night, they plan to win. "That's a goal I set for our boys earlier this year. I told them I expect us to win all five of our home games," Coach Rocky Gaudin said.

That's a lofty goal for Bay High, especially against the Pirates, a longstanding rival who has defeated the Tigers for the past three years.

Gaudin said he thinks the gaming will be one of low scoring and good defense by both teams.

"I think both teams will be fired up. Pass Christian has beaten us for the last three years. We played well last year, but killed ourselves with mistakes and penalties. We don't plan to do that again this year.

"We came out of the pre-season game against East Central relatively healthy, except for Wali Shabazz breaking his wrist during the ninth grade scrimmage game."

The varsity Tigers made a good showing in last week's pre-season game, shutting out the visiting Hornets 6-0.

Returning to the upcoming Pirate invasion, Gaudin said the Tigers expect their main problem with their opponents to be the Pirates' speed.

"They have a good running back in Winfred Rials. He reminds me of a kid that used to be at Hancock, Lionel Curry. If he got loose he just ran with the ball. Winfred Rials is like that."

Gaudin also considers Pirate Lionel Alexander a threat.

"Both their tailbacks scare us, and their defense we respect very much," he commented.

"We just we have to do what we always try to do, play good defense, make the kicks and play ball-controlled offense."

"I've taken some criticism for my approach to the game, but I've said right from the start that I plan to run the ball. If you'll look at the teams that have been winning big in the past few seasons, they haven't done a lot of passing. They've run the ball."

"I thoroughly believe that teams that run the ball get better as the season goes on, because you get tougher and tougher. I believe that's what football ought to be, that's it's a physical sport."

"We're going to be alright offensively; we just have to be patient. I'm trying to get the kids to be patient."

"The teams that have been winning have had good defenses and some explosive runners on the offense. I think we have some of those runners, like Xavier Lewis and Leroy Hawkins."

Gaudin said his main strategy is what it has been for the past two years.

"We're going to go in there Friday night and do our best. That's all I ask of the team, and I think that's all anyone can expect, that we do our best."

SPORTS

Stanislaus to host Admirals

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

The St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws open the 1992 high school football season Friday playing host to the Gulfport Admirals.

Rock head mentor Ken Lyons fields a young team of eager Rock-A-Chaws, with only a handful having seen prior varsity action.

Lyons will depend on the returning veterans, along with players from the 1991 "B" and ninth grade squads.

Opening at quarterback this season will be Jeff Bishop, the "B" team general last season. He also saw some varsity action as a backup quarterback last season.

Commenting about Bishop, Lyons stated, "He has improved his passing, has a good feel for what is happening on the field and seems to have the knack to move the team."

Since Hurricane Andrew a virus struck several members on the Rock squad, Lyons reported. It one of his 'biggest concerns for the opening game.'

Probably starters in the backfield with Bishop include Chris Minchew, fullback; Brandon Benoit, tailback; and Stanley Chapman, swing back, who moved from last year's defensive team.

Along the line probable starters are Nathan Middleton and at the start on defense include, Bryce Gex, Brian Allen, Scott Emmel, in the backfield; Brooks Quinlan and Brett Blakley, outside linebackers; Al Terrell and Kirk Edrington, inside linebackers; Pete Martinez and Cameron Little, tackles; and Leo and Lee Seal, along with Michael Ford, defensive ends.

In making a pre-game comment about what to expect from Gulfport, Lyons said, "I know Gulfport will be giving us their complete attention on Friday night."

In a season opener at Admiral Field last season, Stanislaus shocked Gulfport with a 33-27 upset victory in an action packed game.

It was probably the best showing by the Rock-A-Chaws during the 1991 season, as Stanislaus kept coming from behind to earn the victory over a much larger and deeper Admiral team.

Stanislaus is a member of the District VIII, 4-A conference, while Gulfport is a 5-A contender.

The Rocks finished the 1991 season with a 5-5 record.

Stanislaus will face the same opponents this season as last year, only the sites will change.

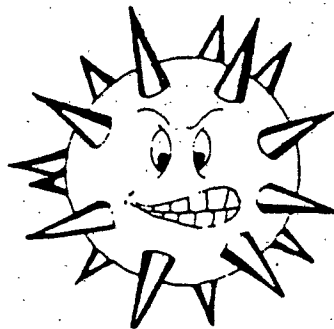

The District VIII 4-A conference includes Hancock High, East Central, Picayune, St. Martin, d'Iberville, Pearl River Central and St. Stanislaus.

In addition to Gulfport, Stanislaus has Bay High, Long Beach and Gulf Breeze, Florida on their 1992 schedule.

"Our conference is very competitive, as a team that finishes third can be very good. It is very balanced, and really, any school could come out on top," Lyons said.

The Rocks were to see action against Ocean Springs last Friday night, but the game was canceled because of Hurricane Andrew.

Kickoff is scheduled from 7:30 p.m. at Rock-Chaw Stadium located at Bookter Street and Necaise Avenue.

Matt Chance, sharing at offensive end; Russ Graham, center; Brian Matherne and George Wichser, at guards; Jacob Alfred and J.J. Pugh at tackles; and Bobby Williams and Greg Poche, tight end.

Those expected to see action

Hawks host George County

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Hancock High School begins season play against the George County Rebels 7:30 p.m. tomorrow on home turf.

According to HHS head coach Irvin Favre, George County's strengths and weaknesses are not his concern. This early into the season, he believes it is more important that the Hawks work on 'their' game.

"We are trying to carry our own mistakes," he explained.

Favre's concerns with the Hawks' pre-season loss to Biloxi last week pointed out three areas of work for the '92 squad: kicking, defense and offense.

Speaking of the Biloxi game, he said, "We blew some assignments on defense, made two fumbles, and the offense needs to get better at rushing."

George County and Biloxi are both 5A teams, while HHS is 4A, he pointed out.

Favre expressed pleasure with the performance of fullback Dennis Malley.

"I liked Malley's efforts," he stated. "He ran hard all night in that big Biloxi middle field. He blocked extremely well out of the back field. He threw a 19-yard pass received, and he also kicked off twice, both times in the end zone.

"If I had to single out any outstanding players on defense, I would name, Jerry Garrett, a linebacker. He was involved in 10 tackles; and Jason Lee, a defensive back, who also made 10 tackles.

"Overall, I am extremely pleased with the effort of the entire team. They played with a lot of heart, and in the long run, that just may be the most important thing."

Favre commented, with the team approaching the first game of regular season and with only one pre-season game behind them, it would be premature on his part to guess what would happen next.

"At this early of a point," he added, "we want to try to give everyone an opportunity to play. After a few more ball games, we will know better what changes if any need to be made."

Favre said, his team will be ready to play tomorrow, and he only hopes every HHS fan will come out and add their support.

Wildcats open season tonight

Pearl River Community College will tangle with the Northeast Tigers at 7 tonight in the Dobie Holden Stadium in Poplarville.

For Pearl River the Thursday night home encounter is breaking tradition a little. For years the Mississippi pioneer community college, with 14-state championship trophies, has opened its home schedule on Saturday.

"The Thursday opener will give our entire student body a chance to get involved, and it will also allow us to have an extra few days to prepare for Hinds (Sept. 12), our first South Division foe," said head coach Willie Coats.

Northeast and Pearl River have met on the football field only 19 times with Northeast winning the first game 20-7 in 1950 and back-to-back contests in 1988 and 1989. PRC won the other 16 contests.

The Tigers will field the top Region 23 running back in the form of Ricky Andrews (5-8, 191) of Colquitt, Ga. Andrews gobbled up 1,017 yards last season as the Hubert Tucker led Tigers put together a 4-5-1 overall ledger and 3-2-1 division mark.

Pearl River has a lot of sophomores on both sides of the line, however, there is more experience on offense. Of the 12 players who signed senior college scholarships, 10 played defense for the Wildcats.

The game is set for 7 p.m. Radio station WLUN-FM 95.3 will broadcast the game live starting with pre-game at 6:45.

Bay Soccer League invites 5-year-olds

Bay Area Youth Soccer is looking for five-year-olds who:

—are worried about kindergarten;

—are bored (no kicks in life);

—whose parents are a drag;

and

—want to have a ball!

That's how Under-6 All-Star soccer coach Waddy

LeBourgeois describes potential new players for the youngest team in the BAYS league.

The only requirement is that players must not have turned six by August 1.

LeBourgeois teaches soccer tactics and techniques, apparently quite successfully, as several of his former players have continued to play to the high school level and beyond.

Practice is now underway at the Waveland Little League Baseball Park, Central at Waveland Avenue.

For more information or an application, call LeBourgeois at 467-3036 or 467-2366.

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

Fall white shrimp appear; islands produce abundant catch

It's time to go fishin' y'all. Probably the biggest news this week is that Hurricane Andrew has really gotten the fish mad big time out by Half Moon and Grassy Islands. I am getting reports that you can catch just about all of the fish that you care to catch, just about anywhere that you fish in this island area, with almost no trouble at all.

Persistent reports are coming in of people fishin' the islands, using live croakers or live three- to four-inch mullet, catching 100 or more specks a day, with at least two-thirds of the specks being keeper size.

Those folks who used live shrimp were catching more specks, but they were generally smaller in size than fishermen who used live croakers or live mullet.

For the fishin' "purist," yes, there are reports that specks, flounders and reds are hitting the chartreuse beetles fished either under a popping cork or fished by working the bottom without a cork.

all along the seawall at night, especially on a falling tide. Fall shrimping activity off the seawall has had some confusion surrounding it concerning the law. Hopefully, I can help clarify and eliminate some of this confusion.

I obtained a booklet that was being handed out to people who were recreational shrimping with cast nets in the Cedar Point area by BMR agents the other night.

The booklet is called 'Mississippi Guide to Saltwater Fishing Regulations,' and it states that these are the laws in effect as of July 1, 1992.

On page 10 under the heading of 'Recreational Methods of Taking Shrimp,' Brail nets not exceeding 12 feet maximum radius may be used to catch up to 50 pounds of shrimp (heads on) per person, per day, in coastal rivers and streams south of the I-10 bridge.

"Persons catching shrimp with cast nets or brail nets shall not remove the heads of the shrimp on sight."

from the Saltwater Fisheries Division of the Bureau of Marine Resources, Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, 2620 Beach Blvd., Biloxi, MS 39531, phone (601) 385-5860.

If anyone remains confused, or has additional questions concerning any fisheries law, it is always best to go to the "horse's mouth"—call or visit the offices of BMR to get answers to your questions. It is better to be safe than sorry.

The fisherperson of the week is Chloe Boudage. Chloe is about three feet tall and only six years old, but she landed a gar fish that was slightly longer than she is tall. Her exploits also included landing a black drum that had to go over six or seven pounds. She claims that her secret to catching those big fish is perseverance and not listening to Ringo.

This past week at least two people were "hit" by stingrays. One person had to be taken to the hospital. The other one was doing everything right and she still got hit.

While she was surf fishin', she was shuffling her feet and otherwise making noise to scare off stingrays, just like you are supposed to do. She stopped to make several casts and was standing still in the water for several minutes. When she went to move, she lost her balance, stepped backward and was hit in the ankle by a stingray.

This is the time of the year that the stingrays seem to be most active and aggressive. Be careful.

This week's wonderful wise words: If you see what looks like a whirlpool in the water, try casting into it with an artificial bait. Boy, are you gonna be surprised.

Watch where you are putting your feet, turtle.

Biloxi Back Bay open to live-bait shrimpers Friday

Biloxi's Back Bay will open to live-bait shrimping Friday. Live-baiters may fish in the bay between sunrise and noon daily. Tom Van Devender, BMR chief of saltwater fisheries, said the entire bay will be open from the CSX railroad bridge to the Interstate 110 bridge.

The open area will extend even farther to the west from the I-110 bridge to the power lines near the Biloxi VA Hospital, but live baiting in the extended area will be permitted only within 50 feet on either side of the channel.

"The Prez" visited the coast a few weeks ago and it has been reliably reported to the Turtle by a usually unreliable source, highly placed in the sub-bureau of the lowest branches of government, that "The Prez" caught this fish using the Turtle's advice.

The most effective retrieve for those using the bottom fishing method has been to bounce your bait off the bottom with a jerk and retrieve the slack method.

The biggest news this week has been the appearance of the fall white shrimp along the seawall. The white shrimp are starting to show up in numbers

County library participates in new Heads Up literacy program

OPERATION

LIFTOFF

BY TRACI BONNEY
Heads up if you need assistance honing your reading skills or learning to read. Operation Liftoff may give you just the boost you need.

Operation Liftoff is a statewide grassroots attempt to enroll in WINNING reading classes those people who need instruction in basic reading skills. Operation Liftoff's goal is to enroll 100,000 people throughout Mississippi.

The registration is being initiated by the Christian Broadcasting Network's Heads Up literacy outreach, which has been active in the state since 1986 and began a $1 million literacy project in 1989.

Since that first program, more than 300 Heads Up sites in 70 counties have been established and 2,862 volunteers have been trained. Almost 30,000 children and adults have been taught at those sites.

Heads Up also started a pilot GED program in the state in 1991 to help adults obtain their high school equivalency certificates. Almost 300 students are enrolled in GED classes at nine sites at this time.

Officials with the Heads Up program hope to set up 1,000 sites throughout the state for the three-day Operation Liftoff WINNING program registration. Registration is scheduled for September 18-20.

"A statewide registration like this has never been done," said Linda Neithammer, executive director of Heads Up. "The educational tools to turn the tide on literacy in Mississippi exist, but the people who need help must be identified and encouraged to improve themselves and their position by enrolling in classes."

Those interested in the WINNING program may call 1-800-446-READ to get on a mailing list to receive information about when local classes can meet, visit any one of the three local libraries to fill out a registration form, or call 467-5282 for information.

WINNING is a reading/language arts program for remediation of pre-teens to adults. It is a phonics based, how-to-read, spell and speak English program written especially for students who need a "new beginning."

Sensitivity to the needs of older students was a major consideration in its development. It has been used successfully by itself and in conjunction with various literacy materials and programs.

Ten learn-to-read phonics songs on six cassettes are in rock, rap, country and jazz arrangements.

with adult literacy. The four consumable student books, look-alike forms, magazine for motivation and cover the content of the lesson material from square one to independent reading ability.

The program includes spelling, reading stories, manuscript and creative writing, word games, comprehension tests and a special life skills vocabulary which includes filling out job applications.

The program needs both students and tutors. Those interested in helping others learn to read or to read better should contact the library for more information.

A WINNING workshop will be held at the library early October for those interested in becoming tutors. Both the tutors' workshop and the WINNING classes are free to participants.

International Literacy Day focuses on reading education

BY TRACI BONNEY

For several years now, a prime concern throughout the nation has been the need to improve literacy among both adults and children.

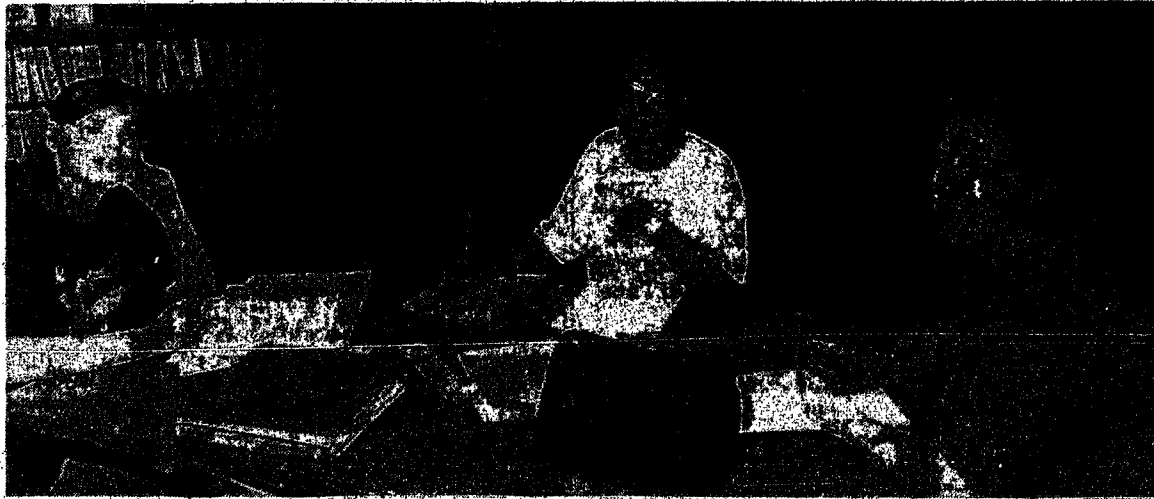

On September 8, libraries and literacy organizations across the U.S. will celebrate International Literacy Day. Several national and international events will take place that day.

Although no statewide programs have been announced at this point, the local library will be showing a video of the new CBN Heads Up program, WINNING. WINNING is designed to teach reading and language arts skills to pre-teens and adults, as well as to educate people in basic job and life skills.

In addition to the new program, the local library already offers courses in reading, English as a second language (ESL), math and basic skills instruction for the GED, and JOBS classes for those who receive AFDC benefits. These programs operate during library hours Monday through Friday.

The program is funded through a grant from the Job Training Partnership Act. Classes are offered in math, writing, reading and science. Students' programs are tailored to their individual needs and may include small classes, individual tutoring or self-paced independent study, or a combination of methods.

Literacy program coordinator June Piley commented, "The program can benefit those who want to improve their reading skills, their language usage and math skills.

"In addition, many people enrolled here are studying their basic skills to prepare to take their GED examinations."

The JOBS program — Job Opportunities and Basic Skills — is also available to help people prepare to enter the work force.

Those interested in enrolling in any of the classes offered through the library literacy program may visit the library, Hwy. 90 in Bay St. Louis, or call it at 467-5282.

The literacy program also needs tutors. Piley said anyone interested in volunteering about three hours a week for the program may call her at the library.

Levy provides medical support while training in Costa Rica

Special to the Echo
Nearly 4,000 Costa Ricans and their farm animals received health care from U.S. Army Reservists in a joint medical learning exercise with the Costa Rican government. Major Winston Levy, a reserve pediatrician from Bay St. Louis, was one of the 45 reservists providing medical support during this exercise.

Levy recently spent his two weeks of annual training administering medical treatment to villagers in Puerto Viejo as part of the program, which was organized by the Army Reserve's 4010th U.S. Army Hospital, New Orleans, La.

"It's been a smooth exercise, with no problems," said Levy, who provided basic medical care. "The morale here is really high, and everyone is working very well together."

He and other reservists worked closely with Costa Rican doctors and dentists using the latest medical knowledge to treat ailments such as skin and intestinal parasites. Transportation to local hospitals was also made available to patients suffering more critical illnesses.

In addition, Army Reserve veterinarians examined and inoculated the livestock in an effort to prevent disease. The farm animals are an essential part of Costa Rica's agriculture, which is the country's primary source of national income. The animals are an important part of the Costa Ricans' livelihood and are used as a source of food and milk.

This exercise allowed reservists to gain important hands-on experience while bringing valuable medical care to the small northeastern villages in Costa Rica. The reservists were also able to educate local medical professionals in United States' healthcare techniques.

Archives and History Department photographs post office murals

The Department of Archives and History's State Historical Museum has just completed a project to photograph Mississippi's extant post office murals, commonly known as the WPA murals, painted during the 1930s.

With funding from the Mississippi Arts Commission, the Museum sent documentary photographer Tom Rankin across the state to photograph the 25 murals in color and black and white.

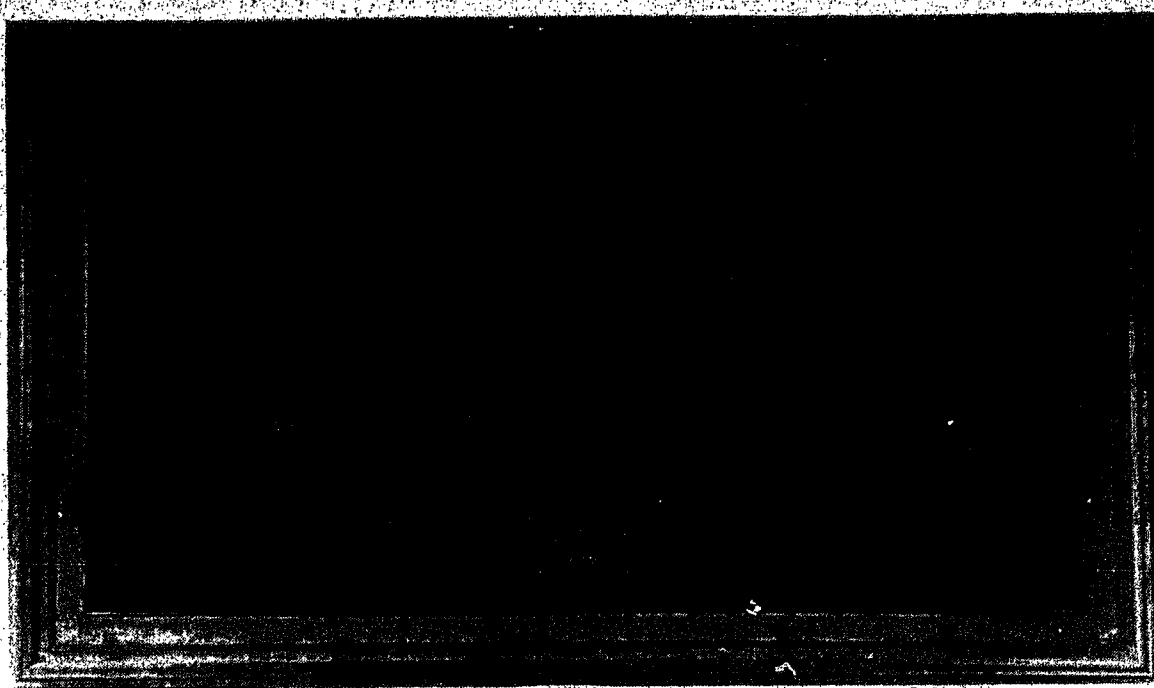

Prints of the murals will be mounted in an exhibition at the State Historical Museum in 1994. The photograph negatives will be stored in the collections of the Department of Archives and History.

The murals were commissioned throughout the country from 1934 to 1938 by the United States Department of Treasury's Section of Fine Arts.

Artists were selected on the basis of anonymous competition. In Mississippi, 28 murals were completed and installed by artists from all over the nation, including three Mississippi artists.

Of the original 28 murals, 25 are still extant in the post offices of Amory, Batesville, Bay St. Louis, Booneville, Carthage, Columbus, Crystal Springs, Durant, Eupora, Forest, Hazlehurst, Houston, Jackson, Leland, Louisville, Macon, Magnolia, New Albany, Newton, Pascagoula, Pontotoc, Ripley, Tylertown, Vicksburg and Waynesboro.

The Bay St. Louis post office mural was dismantled from the old post office in 1987 and moved to the new facility shortly after its construction.

For the government planners of the 1930s, the fine arts went hand-in-hand with a strong economy as necessities for the American culture. Art, it was agreed, would help people weather the Depression by giving them meaningful and hopeful communal symbols. Beyond that, the programs would provide work for hungry artists.

This program, and WPA programs that followed, were the most innovative and comprehensive programs for government art patronage in American history, pursuing the twofold goal of providing work for artists and bringing art to people of every age and circumstance. In the process, they created a public art expressing the ideals of their era.

The Mississippi murals depict local agriculture, budding industries, historic moments and community activities.

Photographer Tom Rankin, a well-known art and documentary photographer, used a rare 8"x10" camera format to capture details and the breadth of the murals without distortion.

Former head of the Art Department at Delta State University, Rankin has joined the faculty at the University of Mississippi in a joint appointment with the Art Department and the Center for the Study of Southern Culture.

This project will serve to preserve these public art works, as the murals are in increasing danger of being lost due to remodeling or replacing of buildings.

The Mississippi Department of Archives and History collects and makes available to the public materials relating to the history of the state. The State Historical Museum in Jackson, a Department division, is open to the public seven days a week.

For information on other Department programs, call 359-6920.

Outside In ramp welcomes handicapped

Trying it out

Christine Woodell, director of the Mississippi Vocational Rehabilitation division of the Department of Human Services, uses the new ramp at Outside In to cut the ribbon. By T. H. (DOC) TOUPS

Christine Woodell, director of the Mississippi Vocational Rehabilitation Division of the Department of Human Services, was in Bay St. Louis Friday morning help celebrate a victory for the handicapped.

Local merchant Bill Chapman, owner of the new Main Street store Outside In, had installed a wheelchair ramp at the entrance to his establishment.

Cindy Vernon, director of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce had met with Chapman on the project. "Bill is the first person in Hancock County to voluntarily comply with the Americans with Disabilities Act. as far as we know," she said.

Bay St. Louis Mayor Eddie Favre, attending the ribbon cutting, said, "I think this is the first step in what I hope will become a local trend."

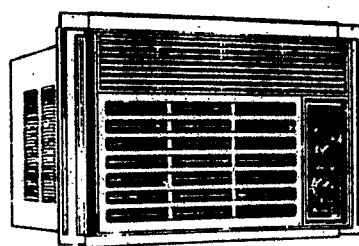

Chapman, when asked about his motivation, explained, "I've had physical impairments. A physical impairment should not be a barrier to anyone — for anything."

Woodell added, "The main barrier to people with disabilities is not steps, but attitude."

She explained that many business people are afraid the ADA would bankrupt them. "Adherence to the ADA can actually increase business," she said.

Gourds earn respect for looks and color

By Dr. Milo Burnham
Horticulturist
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

Brightly colored and patterned ornamental gourds are widely used as seasonal decoration in the fall and are from varieties of Cucurbita pepo, the species that includes Halloween pumpkins, yellow summer squash and zucchini. Birdhouse and dipper gourds belong to the species Lagenaria siceraria.

When fully dried, the Lagenaria gourds have a hard, thin outer layer of shell overlaying a thicker, softer inner layer. The ornamental gourds by comparison do not dry completely and have a thicker, softer shell like that of a pumpkin or squash.

Ornamental gourds require about 130 days from planting until maturity. Harvest time is indicated by the shells being very hard and the attaching stems turning brown. Clip the mature gourds from the vines, being careful not to bruise them. They must be harvested before frost.

Ornamental gourds can be cured in a warm, dry place for a couple of days. To remove surface dirt, wipe the gourds with a solution of vinegar and water, two tablespoons of borax mixed with a quart of water, or a non-bleaching disinfectant, then polish with a colorless paste wax. Some people hang the gourds from strings tied to the stems and spray them with shellac.

The Lagenaria or hard-shelled gourds need a longer growing time than ornamental gourds. They can be left hanging until they turn yellow and brown. Once harvested, the gourds require several months to cure in a warm, dry, well-ventilated place. Keep them in a single layer and not touching one another.

Large gourds can take more than a year until they are light weight, the seeds rattle, and the shell is completely dry and hard. Once thoroughly dried, Lagenaria gourds are tough and will last for centuries.

Dried gourds can be cut, drilled, burned with a wood burning tool, carved, dyed or painted. To cut a hole in a gourd to make a bird house, start by drilling a hole, then use a key-hole saw.

A third type of gourd grown with increasing frequency by Mississippi gardeners is Luffa cylindrica. Luffa vines have yellow flowers. This large gourd is most frequently grown for the spongy, fibrous interior of the mature gourd.

When Luffa turn yellow, they are harvested and soaked in water until the skin can be removed. The seeds are shaken out and the fibrous interiors are dried in the sun. If the gourds are allowed to dry on the vine, they can be soaked in water until the skin softens and comes off.

It becomes apparent at harvest time that gourd vines should be grown on a trellis if at all possible. The trellis supported vines keep the gourds off the ground and they are cleaner, easier to find and more uniformly shaped than gourds where the vines grow over the soil surface.

in Mississippi
Gardens

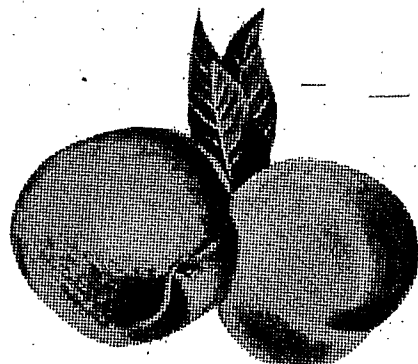

Ornamental gourds have been named for their shapes and come in yellow, orange, green and off-white. The gourd's surface may be plain, patterned, warty or smooth.

Mature and properly handled ornamental gourds will retain their color for several months before breaking down. Immature gourds will shrivel or rot almost immediately.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

I would almost be in the mood just now to cook up a big "Thanksgiving dinner" of sorts, celebrating our good fortune here on the Coast, escaping the devastation of Hurricane Andrew—but my energies are directed elsewhere!

I'm busy unpacking the treasured family pictures, and am busy also rehanging the many framed photographs of the six grandsons, and rearranging other family photos on bookshelves and table tops and so on, as well as putting the boxes and boxes of other treasured photos back where they belong! As anyone who endured Hurricane Camille 22 years ago will be quick to tell you, it was the family photos and other such irreplaceable treasures which we mourned most in the aftermath of the storm, when we were all trying to put our homes and possessions, and yes, our lives, back together after the devastation of that killer storm!

So, with my treasured pictures—and my important personal papers, another lesson learned from Camille—I had left the Pass to join my family in Mandeville, with contingent plans to head up the highway North if it became necessary. We were fortunate there, also Jack and Sue lost their venerable pecan tree to the storm winds.

Home again, with all the unpacking and re-sorting to do, I'm distracted from the desk and its duties by the blue skies and sunshine just outside the window—and it's such a "peach of a day" that I think that I'll put aside all the chores, and head for the farmer's market to pick up some luscious peaches, and perhaps stir up some peach ice cream or a peach cobbler or just devour some juicy peaches out of hand!

I often let a few peaches get overripe and extra juicy, for a special breakfast treat. I slice the peach, then I make some thin-sliced toast and butter it lavishly. I top the toast with the peaches. Then, I pour the coffee and enjoy a treat!

There are, of course, infinite ways to prepare and enjoy fresh peaches. One of the easiest, quite delicious is:

PEACHES
A LA Russe
3 cups sliced fresh peaches

1 cup dairy sour cream
1 or 2 Tbsp. sugar, as you prefer

1/2 tsp. grated lemon rind
Divide the peaches between each of 6 sherbert or other glasses. Combine the sour cream, sugar and lemon rind, and spoon over the peaches. For an added touch, garnish with a peach slice or so.

And, for a special topping for fresh peach ice cream, or for vanilla ice cream, pare and pit 4 fresh peaches, then mash them or spin in the blender. Mix the pulp together with a half cup of sugar and a half cup of fresh orange juice. Bring to a boil, then lower the heat and simmer, uncovered, for 15 minutes or so, until the mixture thickens.

Remove the saucepan from the fire, stir in 2 teaspoons of fresh lemon juice and a teaspoon of vanilla extract. Ladle, warm, over the ice cream. (Copyright, 1992, Katharine D. M. Caire)
